
Competition to Reward the Best eHealth Solution Developed by an EU SME

With the endorsement of the ICT for Health Unit at the European Commission, TICBioMed is organising a competition for rewarding the best eHealth solution of 2012 produced by an European SME.

The objective of the competition is to support business success of Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) by giving them visibility together with marketing opportunities to attract customers, partners and external capital.

SMEs will compete first at national level. The champion of each country will then enter into the European Final, to be celebrated during the eHealth Week 2012 in Copenhagen (Denmark) on the 7th May 2012.
