
Dr Nick Guldemon Appointed as Professor of Public Health and Healthcare at I.M. Sechenov University

Dr Nick Guldemon has recently been appointed as Professor Public Health and Healthcare at I.M. Sechenov First Moscow State Medical University. As of January 2020, he also serves part-time as a Senior Researcher at Leiden University Medical Centre.

His background covers Electric Engineering, Medicine, and Life Sciences. He obtained his PhD in Orthopaedics in 2010 from the University Maastricht, focusing on diabetic foot complications.

As CEO & Founder of the Maastricht University Hospital Medical Field Lab, he obtained many prestigious research grants. He is active in numerous eHealth programmes: China, UK, Russian Federation, Italy, Norway, Poland, Germany, Belgium, Brazil, Iran, Finland, Romania and the U.S., often in collaboration with Pharma (Roche, Genzyme, J&J, Grunenthal), Medtech (Philips, MEDTRONIC, COCIR), Health IT (Microsoft, Ascom, Ortec, Vodafone), and finance (Rabobank, Natwest, RBS) industries.

Published on : Wed, 13 Oct 2021