Thousands of the world's leading neuro professionals will flock to London next month to discover the latest technology and trends within the field of neurology.

Running on the 6th & 7th of June at the ExCeL, the European Neuro Convention will put on an unparalleled lineup of seminars, suppliers and workshops devoted to the cutting-edge developments in neurosurgery, diagnostics, rehabilitation and brain stimulation.

And while there's hundreds of reasons for neuro professionals to attend this industry-leading show, here's five of the top ones that make this free event truly unmissable:

1) Europe's Only Event For Brain & Spine Experts

That's right, the European Neuro Convention is the only exhibition in Europe that's specifically dedicated to the changing face of the neurological world! No other event puts such an incredible spotlight on this ever-developing medical field - making it the most influential and all-encompassing show of its kind.

2) A Focus on Four Key Areas

This year, the European Neuro Convention will be split into four zones; each one packed full of content relating to a different area within the neurology field. The Diagnostic, Surgical, Brain Stimulation and Rehabilitation Zones will make the show easier to navigate and more targeted towards the field's key sectors than ever.

3) Part of PRYSM Medical

For the very first time, every visitor to the European Neuro Convention will get free and unlimited access to the two co-running shows within the renowned PRYSM Medical Division - the European Oncology Convention and Medical Imaging Convention. By running these three events side-by-side, the latest advancements across the breadth of the medical profession will be brought under one roof.

4) CPD-Accredited Seminars

In order to help the show's visitors continue with their professional development, each and every expert-led seminar at the European Neuro Convention is CPD-accredited. Across both days, more than 100 educational presentations will be delivered by some of the most acclaimed, knowledgeable and prominent names within neurology.

5) Diverse Range of Features

As well as providing an unrivalled programme of seminars, exhibitors and workshops, the show will also house 35 interactive masterclasses; the esteemed European Neuro Convention Awards; and a whole host of exciting product demonstrations in the Live Demo Area.
