
HIMSS23 Begins April 17 -24

The HIMSS Global Health Conference & Exhibition will run through April 17 to 21 April in Chicago, U.S.

This is an annual conference drawing health leaders and an array of professionals, including CIOs and senior executives, providers, information and technology professionals, government officials, innovators, consultants, market suppliers and more to network, learn and discover innovative health tech products.

This five-day conference will provide hundreds of education sessions led by healthcare and innovation thought leaders on topics including digital health transformation, AI, cybersecurity and employee engagement. The sessions aim to address top of the mind issues and challenges, as well guide and empower health leaders to inspire change.

The event will attract 1000+ exhibiting healthcare information and technology companies, providing excellent networking opportunities for professionals to make high value connections, build relationships, and fuel personal growth.

HIMSS23 is an exciting and influential health information technology event, where professionals throughout the global health ecosystem can connect, learn and even earn continuing education hours. It is expected to be a very exciting few days for attendees to get the information and solutions they need to solve their greatest challenges.
